BMC Students Learn How to Make Art a Career and a Passion

-VidyarthiMitra News Desk

Every Saturday at the Mumbai Public School in Prateeksha Nagar, Jogeshwari, students take a special art class on the fifth floor. They work with clay, paints, brushes, sketchbooks, and various craft items. Their art teacher shows them how to mix colours properly and use light and shadow. For many of these students, this is their first real exposure to structured art training.

One standout student is Class 9's Khushi, who has consistently been among the top performers. She loves art so much that she often wakes up early to finish her homework, including welcome boards, healthy-habit posters, and collages that impress her classmates. Even though she struggles with school subjects, she never misses the art class. Her dream is to become an artist—either a fashion designer or a Mehndi artist.

The initiative is led by the Prachi Foundation, started by artist and mother Priya S. Sharma, who wanted to fulfil her own daughter Prachi's dream of becoming a full-time artist. Prachi, a skilled young artist, has already displayed her paintings at several exhibitions. She enjoys experimenting with different styles, including quilling and painting, and loves using shades of blue inspired by nature and butterflies. A major incident that shaped her life was a serious flight-related accident in Goa, after which doctors gave her only a 30–40% chance of survival. Surviving that experience strengthened her love for art.

The Prachi Foundation is supported by Sumit, Priya's husband. The couple aims to bring structured art education to public-school students and help them explore creative careers. They believe art should not be treated as an expensive hobby but as an accessible medium that can inspire confidence and provide emotional support. By giving children early exposure to art, the foundation hopes to build stronger civic values and nurture future artists.

The Staff Selection Commission (SSC) has introduced a revised format for disability certificates for Persons with Benchmark Disabilities (PwBD)

-VidyarthiMitra News Desk

The Staff Selection Commission (SSC) has introduced a revised format for disability certificates for Persons with Benchmark Disabilities (PwBD), following directions from the Department of Empowerment of Persons with Disabilities (DEPwD).

Context and Authority

- Issuing Body: The Staff Selection Commission (SSC) has implemented this change.
- Directive Source: The revision follows specific directions from the Department of Empowerment of Persons with Disabilities (DEPwD).
- Purpose: The primary goal is to standardize and streamline the certification process for Persons with Benchmark Disabilities (PwBD) participating in SSC recruitment examinations.

Key Changes to Disability Certificates

The most significant update is the simplification and consolidation of the older certificate forms.

Previous Formats: Earlier, candidates were required to submit disability certificates in formats known as Form V, Form VI, and Form VII.

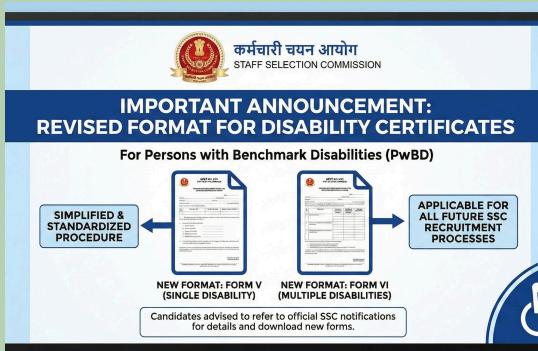

Revised Formats: These three forms have now been replaced by just two comprehensive forms:

Form V: This new format is exclusively for issuing a disability certificate for a single disability.

Form VI: This new format is designated for issuing a disability certificate for multiple disabilities

Action Plan:

- Download: Get the new templates from the official SSC website immediately.
- Verify: Always double-check the specific "Certificate Requirements" section in your exam notice to avoid rejection.
- Future-Proof: For any new application you fill out starting now, switch to the new formats exclusively.

Maharashtra Colleges Missing NAAC Accreditation

-VidyarthiMitra News Desk

A government notice (Nov 26) reveals that a vast number of Maharashtra colleges are operating without the mandatory National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) status, raising concerns over education quality.

Performance Highlights:

Among accredited institutions, 290 colleges achieved 'A' grade or higher:

- A++: 20 colleges
- A+: 67 colleges
- A: 203 colleges

Key Statistics:

- Low Compliance: Only 1,877 out of 3,858 total colleges have accreditation.
- Student Impact: Approximately 3 million students are enrolled in non-accredited institutions.

Sector Gap:

- Private/Unaided: Only 689 accredited out of 3,268.
- Government: 100% compliance (28/28 colleges).
- Aided: High compliance (1,188 out of 1,225).

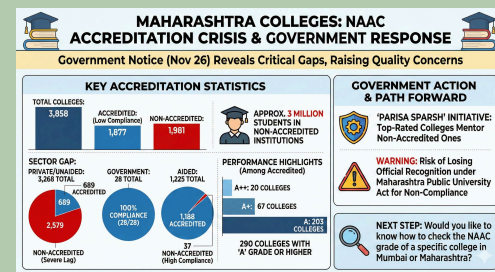

Government Action & Warning:

To fix this, the state launched the 'Parisa Sparsh' initiative, where top-rated colleges mentor non-accredited ones. Officials have warned that colleges failing to comply risk losing official recognition under the Maharashtra Public University Act.

The Official NAAC Website (Most Reliable)

This is the central database and will tell you if the accreditation is valid or expired.

1. Go to: naac.gov.in
2. Navigate: In the menu bar, look for "Assessment & Accreditation".
3. Select: Click on "Universities / Colleges with Valid Accreditation".
4. Search: You will typically see a search box or a downloadable PDF list state-wise.

(CBSE) has issued revised guidelines and Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for Class 10 and 12 academic year 2025-26

-VidyarthiMitra News Desk

The Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) has released revised Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for the conduct of practical exams, project work, and internal assessments for Classes 10 and 12. The board has emphasized strict adherence to these rules to ensure accurate and timely evaluation.

Important Dates

- Regular Schools: January 1, 2026 – February 14, 2026.
- Winter-Bound Schools: November 6, 2025 – December 6, 2025.

For Class 10:

- Schools will manage practicals independently.
- No external examiners will be appointed by CBSE.
- Schools are responsible for maintaining all records and answer books.

For Class 12:

- CBSE will appoint external examiners.
- Assessments must be conducted in the presence of both the internal and external examiners.
- Laboratories must be inspected and ready one day prior to the exam.

Operational Procedures

- Batch Size: Practical exams should be conducted in batches of 30 students.
- Photo Evidence: Schools are required to upload group photographs of the students along with the examiners and observers.
- Attendance: Accurate attendance records must be maintained during the exams.

Documentation & Compliance

- Record Retention: Answer books and award lists must be signed and stored securely for at least one year.
- Strict Adherence: Failure to follow SOPs may lead to the cancellation of the exam or an order to re-conduct it.
- Official Source: Detailed guidelines can be accessed on the CBSE Academic website: cbseacademic.nic.in.

Government Schools to Adopt CBSE Pattern

-VidyarthiMitra News Desk

The Maharashtra government is not converting state schools into central government schools. Instead, the State Education Department is adopting the academic framework, curriculum, and evaluation pattern of the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) for its own government and aided schools. The goal is to upgrade the quality of education in state-run schools (often Zilla Parishad and municipal schools) to match national standards while keeping the medium of instruction accessible to the local population.

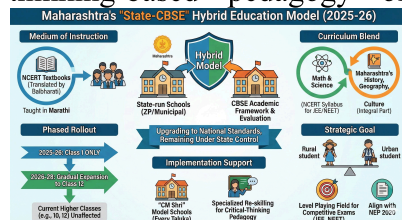

Medium of Instruction: The curriculum will be taught in Marathi. The state bureau, Balbharati, is translating NCERT textbooks into Marathi to ensure accessibility for local students.

Phased Rollout: The transition begins in the 2025-26 academic year exclusively for Class 1. It will expand gradually each year, targeting full coverage up to Class 12 by 2028. Current students in higher classes (e.g., Class 10 or 12) are unaffected.

Curriculum Blend: While core subjects like Math and Science will mirror the national NCERT syllabus (crucial for JEE/NEET prep), the state has mandated that Maharashtra's history, geography, and cultural heritage remain a key part of the syllabus.

Strategic Goal: The primary aim is to level the playing field for rural students in national competitive exams (JEE, NEET) and align state education with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020.

Implementation Support: "CM Shri" model schools are being set up in every block (taluka) to lead this change. Teachers will receive specialized re-skilling to adapt to the critical-thinking-based pedagogy of CBSE.

The University of Mumbai has officially rescheduled all winter semester examinations that were originally set to take place in early December. This decision affects students across all affiliated colleges in Mumbai, Thane, Palghar, Raigad, and Ratnagiri districts.

Revised Exam Schedule

If your exam was originally scheduled between December 1 and December 4, it has been moved to the following new dates:

- Original Date: December 1, 2025
➡ New Date: December 16, 2025
- Original Date: December 2, 2025

- Venue: Unless your college notifies you otherwise, the exam center also remains the same.

Why Were Exams Postponed?

The postponement was necessary due to the Civic Body Elections (Municipal Councils and Nagar Panchayats) held across Maharashtra on December 2, 2025.

- Staffing: A significant number of teaching and non-teaching staff members were deployed for mandatory election duty, making it impossible to conduct exams simultaneously.

Action Items for Students

- Verify Hall Tickets: Check with your college administration if a new hall ticket is required or if the existing one is valid for the new dates (usually the existing one suffices).
- Check Official Circulars: Visit the official university website (mu.ac.in) or your college's notice board to confirm the specific subject codes for the rescheduled papers, especially for Semester 3 and Semester 5 students.
- Plan Accordingly: Use this gap to revise, as the new dates (Dec 16-19) are significantly later than the original schedule.

Experts Share Key Tips Ahead of Cambridge University Interviews

-VidyarthiMitra News Desk

With the University of Cambridge's undergraduate interview season underway, experts and current students are offering practical advice to help applicants prepare with confidence. They emphasise that Cambridge interviews are not designed to confuse or trick candidates, but to understand how they think, analyse new information, and respond to unfamiliar concepts. Ranked sixth in the QS World University Rankings 2026, Cambridge focuses on academic curiosity rather than perfect answers.

Current students share that interviewers want to see a candidate's natural thought process. Ruby Cardie, a third-year law student, reminds applicants that interviewers are ordinary people who care about how you think, not how you dress or where you come from. Emily Lawson-Todd from St Catharine's College highlights that the interview is just one element of the overall admissions assessment.

Experts also suggest practising with unfamiliar texts or problems to strengthen analytical ability. Dr Marcus Tomalin from Trinity Hall advises changing material regularly to avoid memorisation. Dr Christopher Burlinson from Jesus College urges students to listen carefully, think aloud, and not fear changing their answers.

Liaison officers add that it's acceptable to ask for clarification during difficult questions. Applicants are encouraged to show their reasoning clearly, stay relaxed, wear what makes them comfortable, and take a few moments to unwind before entering the interview.

Germany's Talent Shortage and Visa Reforms Create New Pathways for Indian Students.

-VidyarthiMitra News Desk

Germany is facing a severe shortage of skilled professionals across engineering, IT, healthcare, green energy, and mobility technologies, prompting major reforms in its immigration system. Simplified visa processes, reduced EU Blue Card salary thresholds, faster digital approvals, and the introduction of the Opportunity Card are making it easier for global talent—particularly Indian students—to study, work, and settle in the country.

At the centre of this shift are Germany's prestigious TU9 universities, which specialise in high-demand STEM fields such as artificial intelligence, robotics, automotive software, renewable energy, and advanced engineering. These institutions are increasingly popular among Indian applicants seeking programmes aligned with Germany's long-term workforce needs.

Platforms like GoStudyFree report a sharp increase in interest for STEM degrees that match the country's critical skill gaps. Industry experts note that Germany's labour challenge is not temporary but part of a larger structural transition driven by an ageing population and rapid industrial growth. With nearly 600,000 vacancies currently unfilled and millions of retirements on the horizon, Germany is rebuilding its technical workforce—and Indian students are well positioned to benefit. TU9 programmes in mechanical, automotive, electrical, electronics, mechatronics, mobility systems, civil engineering, and energy engineering are now among the most strategically aligned career paths for 2025 and beyond.
